DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN'S present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

For Publishing by subscription.

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements in the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers of half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

For the Gazette.

TO PALEMON FLINT.

You are in great want of a wife,
And I am tired of my lone life,
The want of a husband quite kills me,—
I am virtuous. yet untried,
None asked me to be their bride,
And married I fain would wish to be.

You are thirty years and seven,
And I outdo you but eleven,—
I think you and I can well agree;
You seem to be in great haste,
And I no time have to waste,
O, how happy you and I should be.

The fortune you did get by death,
Can make us for ever blest,
We will crown such handsome estate,—
Eighty acres you have, you do say,
I pray do not much longer delay,
For we will work on it early and late.

I will milk all the three cows—
You feed the mare—I the two sows—
So we will lovingly trudge it along;
With my partner for life,
I'll prove to be a good wife,
And this makes an end of your song.

Now I will tell you my part,—
You have got my warm heart;
And I'll tell you my features quite plain,
My mouth hath a tusk on each side,
That stick outside with great pride,
And Ann Sabelly is my maiden name.

One of my legs is made with oak wood,
The other is fat, salted and good,
And my right eye is lost and quite out,—
Otherwise I can't complain,
But at times am a little lame,
Being a little touched with the gout.

So pray write down unto me,
With you letters post free—
Near Colchester town I reside—
O, I long from you to hear,
And do, make me your dear,
And quickly your wife and your bride.

But, more than all this,
How great will be our bliss,
When we get a daughter or a son,—
And still happier will we be,
When we get two or three—
O, that this marriage soon could be done.

ANECDOTE.

An old Divine, preaching before an association of ministers, and desiring to quicken them in their regard to the principal end and motive from which they acted, pointed them to the last and awful day of judgment; and having considered Christ the judge, as seated on his throne, he represented him as calling his ministers to an account, inquiring how they had preached, and with what views.

He calls one first, and puts this question to him—"What did you preach for?" He answered, "I preach, Lord, that I might keep a very good living left me by my father; and which would have been lost to the family if I had not taken orders." Christ says to him, "Stand by; thou hast had thy reward."

The question is put to another—"And what did you preach for?" He replies, "Lord, I was applauded as a very learned man; and I preached to keep up the reputation of an eloquent orator, and an ingenious preacher." Christ's answer to him was, "Stand by; thou hast had thy reward."

The Judge put the question to a third, "and what did you preach for?" "Lord, (says he) I neither aimed at the great things of this world, though I was thankful for the conveniences of life, which thou gavest me; nor did I preach to acquire the character of a wit, or a scholar, but I preached in compassion to souls, and to please and honor thee. My design in preaching was, Lord, to win souls to thy blessed Majesty!"—Upon this, the judge called out, "Room men!—room angels!—Let this man come, and sit down with me on my throne, as I am set down with my Father on his throne; he has owned and honored me on earth, and I will own and honor him through all the ages of eternity!"

The result of this representation was, that all the ministers went home much affected; resolving, that, through the help of God, they would mind their work more, and look better to their aims and ends ever after.

That such may be the effect of this paragraph on the minds of every clerical reader, is the prayer of A. Z.

ALEXANDRIA:
THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 21

The last arch of the Alleghany Bridge is laid, and in a short time wagons and horses will be crossing a river the worst calculated for ferries of any in our country, on account of its great rapidity. In congratulating the citizens of Pittsburg on the completion of two such Bridges as now ornament our city, (a work, by the bye, which a few years back we never expected to see) we cannot help expressing the high estimation in which we hold the undertaker, Mr. Johnson, and the superintendant of the mason work, Mr. Stackler. These gentlemen deserve the thanks of the people at large for the perseverance they have displayed, and for the expeditious manner in which they have performed their business; we hope their usefulness will never be unemployed. Neither ought we to omit mentioning the orderly, citizen-like deportment and industry of the hands concerned in these undertakings; they merit our warmest approbation. ——— [Pittsburg Gaz.

New-Orleans, Sept. 17.

The eighteen men composing the crew of the privateer captured by captain Loomis and who are charged with piracy, were lodged in jail on the day before yesterday.—It is reported that several distinguished members of the bar are charged to defend them and have already taken some steps to get them out by Writs of Habeas Corpus.

A paper of yesterday publishes the reasons which the privateer's men alledge in their defence, as follows:—

"The vessel in which they cruized is said to be owned by Mr. John Lafitte—she had been lately commissioned at Galvestown by the independent government of Texas, and general Long is said to have known and approved of her equipment. A few days out, they acknowledge they captured a Spanish vessel, but deny having maltreated the passengers; on the contrary they put them in safety on board of the brig Hero, captain Girandel. They deny having assailed the revenue cutters; and declare that captain Loomis having approached under Mexican colors and opened his fire on them, they thought themselves justified in returning it, until the cutter hoisted American colors, when they immediately ceased their fire and surrendered. These men say that none of the crew of the privateer were killed or wounded; and that there was but one man wounded on board of the revenue cutters."

The public are not to take for granted every thing that will be said and published either in behalf or against those men charged with piracy; whatever may be said or published will neither render their case worse nor make it better in the eyes of those citizens who shall be called upon on their oaths, to judge on the proofs, and not on newspaper publications.

We do not by any means wish to find out guilty men. But if those who stand accused of a crime rigorously punished by all civilized nations, are convicted, we believe that the interest and happiness of our state, and of the union at large, require that they should be treated with all the severity of the law.

Here follow their names, as entered on the jailor's book:

John Destargus, capt.; Robert Johnson, lieut.; John Trichart, 2d lieut.; Peter Morel, Charles Dickenson, Louis Pierre Gervin Conchai, John McGee, Louis Philip, John Gousins, Ephraine Tompkins, Isaac Tibbets, Thomas Thompson, Laurence Pagas, Joseph Valbert, negro; Jean Raynor, do.; Julian Sedonner, Wm. M'Clure.

Milledgeville, October 5.

HORRID MURDER.

On Thursday night last, Captain John Troutman was coolly, deliberately and cruelly murdered. The circumstances under which it was perpetrated manifested a degree of daring almost unprecedented in the annals of crime, and the manner evidenced a total extinguishment of every sentiment and feeling of humanity in the bosom of the assassin. He was shot whilst asleep in his own house! The perpetrator of this inhuman murder is yet unknown.

Major Joel Crawford, General John Irwin and Mr. J. Camak, commissioners appointed in pursuance of a resolution of the last Legislature, to ascertain the practicability of cutting a Canal from the Altamaha to Turtle and Sappalo rivers, left this place on Thursday morning last, for Brunswick, to enter on the duties assigned them. In consequence of indisposition, col. Richard A. Blount, one of the three original commissioners, resigned his appointment. ———

Bedford, Pa. Oct. 7.

SUICIDE.

Yesterday morning, Patrick McMurray, a tavern-keeper of this borough, deliberately loaded a pistol with twenty grains of shot, went up stairs to his bed-room, and, horrid to relate, lodged the contents in his breast! After languishing for six or eight hours, during which time he retained his senses, he expired. No other reason was assigned for the unnatural transaction than being considerably embarrassed in his worldly concerns, and to terminate himself. He was in the 39th year of his age, and has left a respectable wife and six children to lament the untimely death of an esteemed and affectionate husband, an indulgent father, and a kind and obliging neighbor.

HORRID.

The Newtown (Tioga) Telegraph gives the particulars of a horrid icide committed in that town The particulars are.—A Mr. Hagar, a tavern-keeper, laboring under pecuniary embarrassments, resolved to put a period to his existence. The first attempt was deliberately running his head against a rock, which mangled it shockingly. He then climbed a tree and jumped off, which further injured him, but did not kill him. He then crawled towards a creek to drown himself, but was so much exhausted he could not reach it before he was found, he was then taken home and confined to the house On the 3d inst. he requested his attendants to leave the room a few moments—they retired—he seized the opportunity, and cut his throat with a razor—they returned in a few moments—wrested the razor from him—he seized the wound with both his hands to make it larger—they were forced away—he escaped from the house, fell down, and before they reached him, he succeeded in running a stick, about four inches in length, into the wound, downward! He was taken home, the stick extracted, and the wound sowed up. He lived but a few days, being unable to swallow any thing, not even water.

FROM CUBA.

Extract of a letter by an arrival at Beaufort, N. C. from an esteemed correspondent at at St. Jago de Cuba, to the editor of the Charleston City Gazette, dated "August 4th, 1819.

"There are four cruisers off this port—a brig, topsail schooner, a small pilot-boat schooner and a sloop. The two latter are no doubt pirates—the brig and schooner I expect are Patriot cruisers. They have made two or three prizes; but the cautious inhabitants of St. Jago appear to be afraid to go out and attack them, although they have four or five vessels in port equal to cope with the best of them.

"The brig Maria, of and from New-Orleans, arrived here the day before yesterday, after a passage of 53 days. She was boarded and robbed of about 6000 dollars, by a boat and nine men, when distant from the Balize 70 miles. She had several women and men, passengers, whose trunks were broken open and divested of every thing that pleased the fancy of the pirates.—This, no doubt, is one of the boats commanded by Mitchell.—I was told by two of the crew of the Maria that they knew three or four of the men who boarded them, and that they were in New-Orleans a few days previous to their leaving that city.

"We experienced a very sensible shock of an earthquake the night before last, about half past 9 o'clock, which soon made the priests or friars display their manner of devotion, by ringing of bells, marching in procession, assembling at the Cathedral, &c.

"The Governor has just fitted out a small schooner to take the pirates that have been off this port for some time, but they went with such reluctance, that I fear it will prove unsuccessful." [Newbern, N. C. Centinel.

THE FLORIDAS.

On Saturday last, orders were received in Philadelphia from Washington, to transport forthwith from the U. S. stores here to Savannah, 20,000 stand of arms and ordnance, ammunition and equipments for a still greater number of men.

Orders have been received at Baltimore, for a strong company of U. S. soldiers now in that city, to proceed to Amelia Island, where we believe there is a heavy train of battering cannon and plenty of ammunition. All these preparatory measures have one tendency

We also learn that the squadron which was under sailing orders, under Com. Morris, have received counter orders and are not to sail for the present. Much conjecture is afloat relative to the objects contemplated by the British government to be effected by the squadron under Sir Thomas Hardy which is expected on the South American coast. ——— [Dem Press.

The United States ship of war Peacock, went to sea on Saturday morning from Hampton Roads, with a staggering breeze from South-West.

VERY LATE FROM FRANCE.—IMPORTANT.

By the French ship L'Eole, from Havre, in 30 days passage, we have received French papers to the 7th September, containing London dates to the 3d, both inclusive. The most important article contained in these papers, is the following, which announces that the Treaty between the U. States and Spain, for the cession of the Floridas, had not been ratified by the latter government.

The "Memorial Bearnais," of the 27th August, gives the following important intelligence:

A Spanish secretary of legation, has passed through Bayonne, on his way to Bordeaux, where he is to embark for the U. States.—He is the bearer of the refusal of his majesty king Ferdinand, to accede to the Florida treaty.

From a hasty perusal, we have gathered the subjoined articles of intelligence, and shall continue our translations to-morrow.

A Boulogne article will be found below, which states, that a British fleet was fitting out at Plymouth, to take possession of the Floridas—its first destination was Havana.

SALES AT PARIS.

French funds, Sept. 6, 73f. 15 c; bank auctions, 1447, 50 a 1450.—Cotton, long staple, 4f; short do. 1f. 90c a 2f 5c; Louisiana, 2f 10c. a 2f. 23c.—Rice, 30 a 40f.

A London paper of the 27th August says, that the alarm which had been experienced at the Exchange a few days before, had been considerably increased. Eighteen failures have taken place this week, and a very considerable bankruptcy has just been declared. This has been the case with a lottery dealer, who had sold according to some, a million sterling, and according to others, 500,000 livres in the funds, which he has not been able to deliver.

An address to the electors of Westminster, in favor of Parliamentary Reform, and the distresses of the country, having been published in one of the London papers, the name of the author was demanded of the printer by Lord Sidmouth—Sir Francis Burdett, in a letter to Lord Sidmouth, acknowledged himself the author, and states, that though the address was written in haste, and under great agitation of feeling, yet that he would always be found to advocate the sentiments expressed in it, as those of a true Englishman and an honest man. ——

London, August 28.

The Exchange continues in the greatest agitation. Two new bankruptcies were declared yesterday before the doors closed.—The number of bankruptcies and suspensions of payment, are said to amount to forty. The same distress prevails in the funds, hardly any business is doing. Sept. 3.

PUBLIC FUNDS.

3 per cent consols, 71 1-4; for account 71 3-8; 3 per cent reduced 71 7-8 a 72; 5 per cent 104 3-4.

Boulogne, August 31.

The expedition of 12 sail of the line now fitting out at Plymouth for some foreign destination, has given rise to various speculations as to its ostensible object. A letter which we received this morning from one of our correspondents in London, well acquainted with what passes there, states that it is rumored in the best circles this fleet is destined for Havana, that the government declares that whether Ferdinand ratifies the treaty for the cession of the Floridas or not, to the U. States, the British are determined to hold that important post provisionally as a security for their West-India possessions; that a cautious policy alone has delayed the sailing of the armament—that as soon as the dispatches were received from the British ambassador at the court of Madrid, Ld. Henry Wellesley, the fleet would set sail. Despatches from his lordship were momently expected.

Frankfort, (Germany) Aug. 24.

Tumultuous acts of violence seems to be daily committed in most of the towns in Germany and even in the country, against the Jewish people. The military have been called out to protect them, but they seem to have had but little effect. The principal cities marked with these outrages are, Hamburg, Wintzburg, Frankfort, Bureeth, Damstadt, Damburg, Mentz, and Brunswick. Some good consequences have resulted for the employment of the land-mahr.

From the Charleston Times, Oct. 13.

LATEST FROM THE HAVANA.

Our letter and papers by the schr. May-Flower, Capt. Swain, are to the 1st instant, inclusive. The following interesting intelligence is from our correspondent's letter.

"Havana, October 1st, 1819.

"My last was per schr Alert, I now hand you our "Diario" up to this date, inclusive—under yesterday's date you will find a note of duties on imports agreeable to the last regulation of our custom-house, which claims the attention of your commercial friends.—Our flour market has experienced a woful decline—fresh Baltimore and Philadelphia 18 and a half last sales; offers 18—Our stock in market may be estimated at 5,500 barrels, 1,500 of which in first hands; it may possibly hold at present price through the fall. The chance of rise somewhat in its favor, as from the extreme high price at New-Orleans, we do not look for any from that quarter immediately.

"The last cargoes of rice from your place have done well; better than those on their way here will do. Last sales, schr. Comet's cargo, 8 7-8 dollars. Our stock has been augmented 200 tierces by the arrival of the brig Patriot this day from Savannah, and considerable from Campeachy—we are of opinion it must decline to 7 dollars. The brig Patriot spoke on her passage out. in lat. —, the schr. Lawrence, from your port, fourteen days out, bound to Rum Key, all well, and requested the captain of the P to report them. The American schooner Iris, arrived in this port on the 29th ult. 34 days from Cadiz;—she brings nothing very important. The grand expedition was to have sailed on the 15th ult. which seemed to be the principal topic of conversation. It was generally believed that the cession of the Floridas to the U. States would be finally ratified, though not until after the King's marriage!!!—Business at Cadiz dull.

Reports have just reached town that H. C. M. brig San Fernando, has captured the Insurgent brig "Pagaro," after a severe conflict of four hours. The San Fernando sailed from this port with 130 men, or thereabouts, which had been augmented to 480 at Porto-Rico. It is said that all the prisoners were put to the knife. The mail has not yet arrived—two days due. Should this news be confirmed by our letters from Trinidad, at which place it is said the San Fernando has arrived, I will inform you by the Comet in a day or two. The San Fernando had 25 killed and 50 wounded; notwithstanding all these facts, the reports may be false, or reversed.

"Exports steady—Business reviving."

REMARKABLE FECUNDITY.

On Tuesday last the wife of Mr. Thomas Small, a fisherman at the lower end of the town, was safely delivered of FOUR LIVING CHILDREN!!! three boys and a girl. The mother, we understand, from Dr. Bricket, the visiting physician, is doing well; but are sorry to add, none of the children are alive, all having died within six hours, of their birth. Mrs. S. is a young woman, these being her first children.

In consequence of the exemption of married men for the military conscription now levying in Sicily—it is said 80,000 young men got married within a few weeks. Here then is the long sought law which will operate on Bachlors.

SINGULAR INSTANCE OF BENEVOLENCE.

A French refugee at Brussels, was surprised in that city by the French troops, in their victorious entry after the battle of Fleuris. Dreading to be made a prisoner, he fled. A young girl, an entire stranger to him, who was sitting before a door, observing the terror and distraction of his air and countenance, seized him by the arm. "Stay!" she cried, "you are lost if you go forward." "And I am lost if I return," he answered. "Then enter here" said the generous girl, "and be saved."

The Frenchman accepted her offer. His hostess informed him she was niece to the sexton of the neighboring church; that it was her uncle's house in which she had received him, who would have been far from suffering her to exercise so dangerous a rite of hospitality, had he been at home; and she hastened to conceal him in an out-house, where she expected to leave him in security.

Scarcely was it dark, when some French soldiers entered the same place, to take up their abode for the night.—Terrified at the situation of the French stranger, the girl softly followed them, without being perceived; and waiting till she was sure they were asleep, she informed the refugee of his extreme danger, and desired him to follow her. Their movement awakened one of the soldiers; who stretching out his arm, seized that of the refugee, crying out, "Who goes their?" The girl dexterously placed herself between them, and said, "It is only me who came to seek for——." Fortunately she had no occasion to say a word more. The soldier, deceived by the voice of a woman, let go his captive. She conducted the refugee into the house and taking down the keys of the church, with a lamp in her hand, led him to that place, as the securest asylum she could find. They entered the chapel, which the ravages of war had despoiled of its ornaments. Behind the altar was a passage to a vault, the entrance to which was not easy to be discerned. She raised the door, and said, "This narrow staircase leads to a vault, the repository of the ashes of an illustrious family. It is scarcely possible they will suspect any person of being concealed there. Descend, and remain there, till an opportunity offers for your escape." She gave him the lamp: he descended into the melancholy abode, and she closed the door upon him. His feelings may well be imagined, when, examining this dismal place by the light of his lamp, he saw the arms of his own family which had been originally of this country. He examined the tombs of his ancestors; he viewed them with reverential affection, and rested his head, with emotion, upon the marble that covered their ashes. The first day passed unperceived, in the midst of these strong impressions; the second brought with it the claims of hunger, even yet more pressing than the desire of liberty; but his benefactress came not. Every hour in its lingering passage, now increased his suffering, his terror, and despair. Sometimes he imagined the generous girl had fallen a victim to her desire of saving his life: at others he accused her of having tempting him: in either case, he saw himself doomed to a death a thousand times more horrible than that from which he had escaped. At length exhausted with fruitless efforts, with agonizing fears, and the intolerable gnawing of hunger, he sunk into inseusibility upon one of the graves of his ancestors.

The third day was far advanced, when he recovered to a languid sense of his deplorable condition. Shortly after, he heard a sound—it was the voice of his benefactress, who called to him from the chapel. Overwhelmed with joy as with weakness, he has not the power to answer. She believes him already dead, and, with a mournful exclamation, lets fall the door that covers the entrance to the tomb. At the sound of the falling door, the unfortunate man feels his powers return, utters a shriek of despair, and rushes with precipitation up the stairs. Happily the niece of the sexton had not left the spot—she hears the cry, lifts the door, and descends to save him. She had brought him food, and explained the cause of her long delay, assuring him that she had now taken such precautions, that in future she could not fail to administer to his daily wants. After seeing him refreshed and consoled, she quitted him; and had scarcely proceeded some steps, when she heard the doors unlock, and the noise of a number of armed men enter. She flew back to the vault, and motioned the refugee to silence. The persons who now filled the church, were a detachment of French soldiers, who had been sent there to search for an emigrant the sexton was suspected of concealing. The sexton himself led them on. Perfectly unconscious of the danger his niece had incurred, proud of his own innocence, he loudly encouraged their activity, and directed their researches to each remote corner of the chapel, that every spot might attest his good faith. What a situation for the two captives! The soldiers passed many times over the fatal door, led by their restless and prying conductor; each footstep sounded to the trembling victims below as the signal of their death. The entrance of the vault, however, remained undiscovered; the noise by degrees died away; and when the niece of the sexton ventured from the vault, she found the door of the church was shut, and every one gone.—She again assured the refugee of her stedfast protection, and retired.

On the following day, and for many succeeding days, she regularly supplied him with provisions, and the instant a favorable moment arrived for his escape, his vigilant friend conducted him from his subterraneous abode, and instructed him in the means to pass unmolested.—leaving the tomb, he gained the country, and soon after rejoined his wife: her presence and affections taught him to appreciate still more highly the services of his generous benefactress.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, think that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case; and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thomson, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.
June 11 . H

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the surname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley. Washington, Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria, Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria, Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
